"Friendship is beyond racial barriers.

We are sisters, godsisters and best friends. We never doubt each other's opinions. Our dads are very close and I'm sure that inspired us. I don't think we will ever grow apart. If we make an effort, it should be okay."

Born a few months apart, they slept in the same baby cot, grew up as neighbours, ate almost the same food, became godsisters, attended the same junior college, shared 19 years worth of secrets, and they have no plan to stop being close.
